

Program Educator

About Project You

Project You is an Expo Live supported social enterprise rethinking youth development for the future. Project You's overarching objective is to help develop Future-Ready Youth with skillsets around social & emotional intelligence and future trends. Our Build & Guild program runs in parallel to conventional high school, with an aim of improving self-awareness, driving youth towards future trends and essential life skills that are not typically covered in schools today.

We look for people who build trust through leadership, who are grounded in sincerity & their values, who spread happiness through generosity and who communicate with candor.

Program Educator

As a Program Educator, you are an educator and teacher at heart. You are responsible for supporting and effectively deploying Project You's main programs and activities. You will be working with students to develop their skills based on our Build & Guild program, influencing our R&D team in iterating our programs & assessments and championing Project You's impact across our various stakeholders; from schools to governments, while enabling a lean, effective, mission-focused entity.

Key Responsibilities:

- Facilitate programs Work within the framework of the program on our mission of building future ready youth by building pathways and skillsets.
- Mentoring Youth Providing constructive individual feedback, advise, support and empower students through the program on their self-awareness, strengths and maximizing their impact.
- Support the Schools Coordinator and the Program Manager in delivery of the program in terms of feedback on delivery, sharing best practices and adjusting the program deployment accordingly.
- Support Enablement of Impact measurement tools and continuous Program R&D in coordination with the data team, Quality team, R&D team and the Leadership.

To apply for this position, you will be:

1. Passionate about youth issues and a wider understanding of root-causes.
2. A critical thinker and a creative problem solver.
3. A background in education/psychology/program development or the like.
4. A good Public Speaker and team player with excellent communication skills.
5. Attention to detail, exemplary organization skills and a knack for research.
6. Dedicated with the ability to work within a flexible framework and meet deadlines.
7. Able to improvise on the deployment method of course content based on a good ability to read the crowd.
8. Have good command in Arabic language
9. Previous experience in a similar role would be advantageous.

To apply please email: hr@projectyoux.org

Graduate Entry Program (24-months)

Associate Product Manager

About Project You

Project You is a social enterprise building curriculums around future skills for schools, governments and communities. We are people of purpose that build leadership through generosity, are grounded in our values and create impact through empathy. We are a Youth Led organization founded in 2019, we've impacted nearly 3000 youth through our programs since.

About the Role:

We are seeking an innovative Associate Product Manager to join our product team and ensure that our products remain innovative and competitive. As an Associate Product Manager, your duties will include analyzing consumer behavior and industry trends, evaluating consumer feedback on our products, and finding solutions for product defects.

To be successful in this role, you should possess the ability to contribute appropriate product-related insights and strategies. First-class Associate Product Managers are informed activists who are passionate about education, sociology, and youth issues with a strong business acumen and who identify new product features that provide businesses with a competitive edge.

Associate Product Manager Responsibilities:

- Reporting to the Product Manager and collaborating with the product development team.
- Gathering product data, including web analytics, statistics, and consumer trends.
- Analyzing consumer research data and recording product defects.
- Determining improvements to product features.
- Coordinating findings with the product team and aligning them with business goals.
- Preparing project status and risk management reports.
- Developing marketing strategies for enhanced product features.
- Training internal departments on new product features and providing support to customers.
- Developing efficient customer communication and feedback channels.

Associate Product Manager Requirements:

- Bachelor's degree in computer science, business management, marketing, education, anthropology, sociology, arts or a related field.
- Previous experience in a similar role would be advantageous.
- Experience in gathering and interpreting qualitative data and feedback.
- Ability to analyze industry trends and competitor behavior.
- Exceptional ability to identify improved product features and contribute to marketing strategies.
- Ability to report to the Product Manager and collaborate with the product development team.
- Proficiency in compiling project status, risk management, and marketing reports.
- Ability to maintain strong customer relations and provide product support.
- Excellent communication and presentation skills.

Bonus:

1. You speak multiple languages - formal Arabic is a plus.
2. You have previous internship experience.
3. You have a degree in communications, finance, education, or management.

This is a full-time paid role. Compensation would be 100,000 AED per annum all inclusive.

To Apply, please send a cover letter and your CV to: hr@projectyoux.org