

CALL FOR PAPERS

The 6th BUID Doctoral Research Conference, BDRC 2022, invites all BUID students to submit full papers in their respective fields of study.

2 July 2022
10:00-18:00

Overview

The 6th BUID Doctoral Research Conference 2022 is focused on providing students with an international forum through which their work can be shared and published. Inherently multidisciplinary in nature, it is an opportunity to discuss research and training in education, business, law, engineering, sustainable design and innovation. The conference is intended for upcoming researchers and those who carry the dual role of researcher and educator, thought leader, practitioner, technocrat or business leader. We hope to bring together a diverse group to present and discuss the latest trends, discoveries, praxis and interests in these multidisciplinary areas.

Benefits of participation:

- Attendees will benefit from opportunities to interact with both emerging and established researchers within the BUID community;
- Gain recognition and conference experience which can be included on an academic CV and
- Submissions will be published in conference proceedings.

Conference proceedings will be published in Springer and indexed by Scopus
