Meinhardt Group (MENA)

Profile

As a Chartered Structural Engineer (Fellow), I excel in standardizing performance in the built environment, structural design, and associated trades. My expertise spans retail, industrial, and commercial design, with a strong emphasis on health and safety, project management, and mentoring. I am a dedicated and specialize in site supervision, focusing on “getting things done” and inspiring teams towards continuous development and improvement. My professional journey includes managing multi-disciplined teams, ensuring seamless project execution.

Deeply involved with the Institution of Structural Engineers on an international level, I am committed to assisting emerging engineers—from students to seasoned professionals—empowering them to achieve their goals and attain Chartership. My leadership roles on the UAE Institution of Structural Engineers Regional Committee, previous IStructE councils, and various industry panels underscore my suitability for the British University in Dubai Advisory Board Panel.

With a balanced approach, I bring a pragmatic yet refined perspective to every project, ensuring high standards and meticulous attention to detail. My passion lies in fostering growth and excellence within the engineering community, driving innovation, and maintaining the highest standards of professional practice.
