

Dr. Emad Hussein

International Independent
Arbitrator, Accredited Mediator,
Legal Counsel & Academic

Profile

Dr. Emad Hussein is an international arbitrator, accredited mediator (CEDR, SIMI and IMI) and keen academic.

He is empanelled as an arbitrator with several international arbitral institutions such as the ICC, DIAC, ADCCAC, arbitrateAD, HKIAC, QICCA, CRCICA, SCCA, AAA-ICDR, LCICA and SIAC. He is also an empanelled mediator with the CAO, World Bank. He is an approved faculty member (AFL) with the CIArb and has trained several arbitrators and mediators under the fellowship route in collaboration with the SCCA. Additionally, he is also a Senior Fellow with the Singapore International Dispute Resolution Academy (SIDRA) and leads research on the advancement of ADR in the MENA region. He is also a member of the advisory board with the LCICA and the Geneva-based ADR organisation, InnovADR.

He holds a PhD focusing on international commercial arbitration from the SOAS, University of London, UK, a PhD in Management from ISM, USA, an LLM in international arbitration from the Queen Mary University of London, UK and an LLM in mediation and international commercial dispute resolution from Newcastle University, UK.